III. ENTERING YOUR FIGHT CARD

Each fight on your event fight card is entered individually, searching the database for each fighter. The most accurate way to search is by National MMA ID, but you can also search by first and last name, and by nickname.

1. Enter the National ID for each fighter in the first match in the appropriate field. If you do not have the National ID number, enter the full name, and if available, the fighter's ring name or 'nickname'. If you only have one fighter in the match, but not the opponent yet, click the "To Be Decided" box at top right of the window, illustrated below.

Choose Fighters

Enter the names of the fighters in this fight. If the fighter is already in our database, you will be able to select them, or start a new fighter.

If one of the fighters is To Be Decided, check the "To Be Decided" box in the "Fighter 2" section, so you won't have to enter a second fighter.

Search & Choose Fighters

If there is more than one result; please be sure to pick the best match based on the available information. If an exact match is found, it will be automatically selected. If you know this is a debuting fighter, choose the option "This is New Fighter" and fill in their primary information. If you do not want the public to see a prospective fight, check the Hide Fight at bottom right. When you are done, choose "Save."

4. When you have entered match details, you may then choose to enter the next fight in the same manner, or you can return to view the full card. If you opt to “Save & add next fight,” the details field will default to the previous choices you made. If for example you enter amateur fights, and then start to enter pro fights, you can simply check the radio button for Pro Fighter and all the subsequent matches you enter will default to pro (but can of course be changed back to amateur if appropriate).

If for any reason you do not wish the public to see an upcoming fight, check the “Fight is Hidden?” button. The regulating AC will still be able to see the match, but the public will not.

When you have entered all matches set thus far, click the “Save & return to card” button.

IV. CHECK SUSPENSION STATUS OF FIGHTER

Please note, you cannot check a fighter 's suspension status unless that fighter is first added to a bout on the fight card. You will not receive any details about the nature or duration of the suspension, beyond the fact that the fighter is under suspension at the time of the proposed fight. The regulating agency will have full access, and will provide information on steps needed to clear the fight, if any are available.

1. From the main screen, choose the Edit Fight Card tab to view entire card.

The screenshot shows a navigation bar with four tabs: 'Add Next Fight', 'Edit Fight Card' (highlighted in green), 'Edit Event Details', and 'Suspensions'. Below the tabs is a section titled 'Choose Fighters' with a red heart icon. The text below reads: 'Enter the names of the fighters in this fight. If the fighter is already in our database, you will be able to select them, or start a new fighter. If one of the fighters is To Be Decided, check the "To Be Decided" box in the "Fighter 2" section, so you won't have to enter a second fighter.' Below this is a section titled 'Search & Choose Fighters' containing two input fields for 'Fighter 1' and 'Fighter 2', each with a 'National Id: *' label and an empty text box. To the right of the 'Fighter 2' field is a checkbox labeled 'To Be Decided'.

2. At the top, there is a summary of any fighters on your card with current or pending suspensions.

The screenshot shows the 'Edit Fight Card' section with a red heart icon. Below the title is a breadcrumb trail: 'World Extreme Fighting > Test Event 2'. A green box highlights a section titled 'Fighters with Current or Pending Suspensions'. The text inside the box reads: 'Please contact the Athletic Commission regarding these fighters:'. Below this text are two lines of text: '- Chris Leben' and '- Chris Leben'.

3. You may also scroll down to the bout in question. Any fighter currently suspended will be marked in yellow, with the explanation appearing immediately below.
